March 14, 2016 • humbx.com • hbe-info@humbx.com • facebook.com/humbx • Bulletin No. 16-11

In Memory of Al Alora

Mr. Al Alora began his lifelong career in the construction industry in 1950, working as an apprentice carpenter, until he received his contractor's license in 1956 at age 25.

He worked tirelessly over the years, developing an impeccable reputation throughout the county and other surrounding areas.

He ended his career in 2006 as Chief Estimator at Danco Builders and enjoyed many hobbies during his life and retirement; he was an avid hunter, loved to shoot pool, go camping, spend time at the family cabin in Trinity Village, and attend the horse and stock car races during the Humboldt County Fair.

Most importantly, he was devoted to spending all of his free time with his family.

Al Alora was the very first recipient of the Humboldt Builders' Exchange Lifetime Achievement Award in 2011. Al is already missed by many and the Humboldt Builders' Exchange is honored to have known him.

A Celebration of Life Service will be held on Saturday, April 2nd at the Samoa Women's Club from 1pm to 4pm.

Capitol Connection

Week of 03/14/2016

By Shauna Krause, President, Capitol Services, Inc.

Our first contractor gets a 'green' light before I take on a 'bigger' question from Texas! Yes. An answer that likely results in time off for another 'contractor'. With a nod to our pending season for the 'boys of summer' Q/A with a Spring Training 'pitch'...

Q: I have formed a new corporation and we are in the process of applying for a new contractor's license. Do we need to list all of our Officers and Directors on the application/license? Some of them are just investors and they don't want to be associated with the license.

A: Domestic California corporations are required to list their President, Secretary, and Treasurer on the application/license. Foreign corporations (formed outside of California) are only required to list their President on the application. Directors, Vice Presidents, or other "assistant" Officers are not required to be associated with the license for either foreign or domestic corporations. So, barring these 'investors' holding Executive posts, you are good to go.

Q: Our company is based in Texas and has been in business in California for over 15 years. We apply sealants to floors in schools, hospitals, etc. One of the school districts recently requested our contractor's license number, which we've never had happen before. We contacted the CSLB and we were informed that we needed to have a "C-61"/"D-12" (Synthetic Products) contractor license to perform this work. We consider ourselves a "janitorial" service and therefore never knew we needed a license. Since we have been in business for so long, can we continue doing business while we are in the process of obtaining a contractor's license? If not, we will have a staff of employees out of work for a period of time!

A: I would never recommend doing contracting work without a license. While it is understandable that you were unaware of the licensing requirements in California, contracting without a license can result in fines, misdemeanor charges, and possible jail time. Not only that, but consumers are not required to pay a person for work done while not state licensed.

Q: I have a General Building contractor's license and I want to start up a separate painting business under a different name but under the same corporation. How do I go about doing that? Can I use the same license?

A: In the terms of Spring Training baseball. Strike One. You cannot use the same license for a different business operating under a different name. Additionally, General Building contractors cannot perform single specialty trades alone, for Strike Two. General Building contractors are required to perform at least two unrelated trades on the same job, You're Out! HOWEVER, if you have at least four years of full time work experience doing painting, within the last ten years, then you will likely qualify for a separate "C-33" (Painting) license. If you want to operate under a separate name for your painting business, then you will need obtain a separate contractor's license with the "C-33" (Painting) classification. If you want to operate under a different name, you need to obtain a new license with a 'dba' (doing business as) name. Next batter up!

While knowledge is power, knowing where to go for the answers is half the battle. Get expert assistance immediately when you call 866-443-0657, email info@cutredtape.com, or write us at Capitol Services, Inc., 1225 8th St. Ste. 500, Sacramento, CA 95814. Research past columns at www.cutredtape.com

Floor Buffer Safety

Floor machines come in many styles and power levels from the standard electric stick model to battery and propane - powered walk-behinds and ride-ons. They use different pad types and abrasive factors to clean, wax, buff, and strip hard surface floors. Because floor maintenance involves using powered machinery and concentrated chemicals, it is important to keep safety in mind.

Get training and read the manufacturer's instructions for your floor machine. Read the safety data sheets (SDS) for all floor maintenance chemicals and get training on the use and proper mix ratios. Because these chemicals are sold in concentrated forms, use caution when pouring and mixing; they pose a hazard to skin, eyes, and the respiratory system if they are not used correctly.

Wear the proper safety equipment such as comfortable, slip-resistant shoes or boots and long pants. Always wear gloves and splash goggles when mixing and dispensing chemicals. Safety glasses should be worn to protect your eyes from debris that may be kicked up by the rotating pads and brushes.

Conduct floor maintenance when there are few people around; early mornings, late evenings, and weekends are good times. Use caution signs to warn others of the slippery floor. Gather the equipment and materials that you will need to prevent unnecessary trips over slippery surfaces.

Check your floor machine before you begin work. Cords for electric stick models should not have cuts or exposed wires. Apply the cleaning pad or brush while the machine is unplugged and tilted back. For battery and propane models, ensure that you have a good charge or full tank; apply pads while the machine is off. Before use, test the floor machine to make sure that parts are locked in place, it operates properly, and that the auto-stop safety feature is working.

Keep a good grip on the handles to maintain control of the floor machine. Remain aware of your surroundings to avoid hitting people, glass windows, and doors or falling down stairs or inclines and off raised surfaces. For electric models, hold the cord over the handle to avoid damaging it or getting it tangled in the pads; do not wrap the cord around the handle because that can disable the auto-off safety feature.

To avoid trip hazards, store floor machines out of the way. Electric floor machines should be unplugged and the cord loosely wrapped. Machines that are not in good working order should be turned off, unplugged, and tagged as out-of-service for repair.

Polish your safety skills when using floor machines.

Seguridad con las Pulidora de Pisos

Las máquinas pulidoras de pisos existen en muchos estilos y niveles de potencia, desde los modelos eléctricos verticales estándar hasta modelos operados por baterías, de gas propano en las que el operador camina detrás y modelos que el operador maneja como vehículo. Estas máquinas usan diferentes tipos de almohadillas y abrasivos para limpiar, encerar, pulir y quitarle el barniz a pisos de madera dura. Debido a que el mantenimiento de los pisos involucra el uso de máquinas motorizadas y productos químicos concentrados, es importante tener en cuenta la seguridad.

Entrélese y lea las instrucciones del fabricante de su máquina para pisos. Lea las Hojas de Datos de Seguridad (SDS, por sus siglas en inglés) de todos los productos químicos empleados para el mantenimiento de pisos, y entrélese en su uso y las proporciones correctas para su mezclado. Debido a que estos productos químicos se venden en forma concentrada, se debe tener cuidado al verterlos y mezclarlos; presentan un peligro para la piel, los ojos y el sistema respiratorio si no se usan correctamente.

Use los equipos de seguridad apropiados, tales como botas o zapatos cómodos y resistentes a los resbalones y pantalones largos. Siempre use guantes y gafas contra las salpicaduras cuando mezcle o vierta los productos químicos. Se deben usar anteojos de seguridad para protegerse los ojos contra desechos que puedan ser impulsados por las almohadillas o cepillos que giran.

Haga el mantenimiento de los pisos cuando no haya muchas personas presentes; temprano por la mañana, de noche o en los fines de semana son buenos momentos. Use avisos de precaución para advertir a otras personas de los pisos resbalosos. Reúna los equipos y materiales que vaya a necesitar para evitar viajes innecesarios sobre superficies resbalosas. Revise su máquina para pisos antes de comenzar su trabajo. Los cordones para los modelos verticales eléctricos no deben tener cortaduras ni alambres expuestos. Instale la almohadilla o el cepillo de limpieza mientras la máquina está desenchufada y volteada hacia atrás. Para modelos de baterías o de gas propano, asegúrese de tener una carga completa o el depósito lleno; instale las almohadilla estando la máquina apagada. Antes de usarla, pruebe la máquina de limpieza de pisos para asegurarse de que todas sus partes estén bien sujetas en su sitio, que funcione correctamente y que el dispositivo de paro automático de seguridad esté funcionando.

Sujete bien las asas de la máquina de pisos para tenerla bajo control. Manténgase consciente de lo que le rodea y evite golpear a otras personas, ventanas de vidrio o puertas, o caerse por las escaleras o superficies inclinadas o de alguna superficie elevada. Para los modelos eléctricos, sujete el cordón sobre el asa de la máquina para evitar dañarlo o que se enrede en las almohadillas; no enrede el cordón en el asa porque eso puede inhabilitar el dispositivo de paro automático de seguridad.

Para evitar peligros de tropezones, guarde las máquinas para pisos en un lugar apartado. Las máquinas para pisos eléctricas se deben desconectar y el cordón enrollarse. Las máquinas que no estén en buenas condiciones de funcionamiento se deben apagar, desenchufar y rotularse "out of service" (fuera de servicio) para reparación.

Mejore sus conocimientos de seguridad mientras usa las pulidoras para pisos.

Capitol Connection

Week of 03/07/2016

By Shauna Krause, President, Capitol Services, Inc.

What type of contractor takes down 'art'? I will remove some 'artificial' notions on 'cutting' turf, share some 'ink' on a fingerprint question. I also have the unfortunate duty to let a 'former' contractor know that too much time has passed to just 'revive' his license but his 'number' may not be gone...

Q: Is a contractor's license required for graffiti removal and if so, what type of license would I apply for?

A: Yes, if the total contract amount is over $500, the "C-33" (Painting) classification would be the most appropriate for graffiti removal.

Q: Is a contractor's license needed for removing artificial turf from outdoor athletic fields?

A: Yes, a contractor's license is required. Both the "C-61"/"D12" (Synthetic Products) or the "C-27" (Landscaping) classifications would be acceptable to remove artificial turf from athletic fields.

Q: We have an application pending with the CSLB and all of the requirements have been met except for fingerprinting. Our President travels frequently and it's hard to lock him down to go get fingerprinted. Is there a way for the CSLB to issue our Contractor's License prior to completing fingerprints?

A: No, the CSLB will not issue a Contractor's License until all personnel listed on the application fulfill the fingerprinting requirement. In addition, the fingerprints must "clear" both the Department Of Justice (DOJ) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) before any license will be issued.

Q: I previously held a Specialty contractor's license that is currently "expired and not able to contract at this time". I have now been working back in that same field for the past 4 yrs. What is necessary to 'reactivate' that license number but place as Inactive for potential future use?

A: I looked up your license and since it has been expired for over five years you will have to re-apply for a license. You can however request that they issue your old Sole Owner license number back to you. You will need to be able to document at least 4 years of full time work experience, within the last ten, in the Fencing trade. You will also be required to take and pass the exams again. Contact our office if you'd like assistance with this process.

Q: I have an "A" (General Engineering) license in Arizona. Am I permitted to perform electrical work with my "A"?

A: The General Engineering classification in Arizona allows you to perform all scopes of work allowed by "CR-2" through "CR-80" classifications, so yes, you can perform "CR-11" (Electrical) work in Arizona with your "A" license.

IMPORTANT: For Contractors and Consumers!

In a recent press release, the CSLB reminds contractors and homeowners the risk of contracting, or hiring a contractor, who does not carry the proper Worker's Compensation for employees who are working on a job. CSLB investigators recently set up several sting operations with various cities throughout California, in which they cited multiple contractors for not having Worker's Comp insurance for the individuals working with them. CSLB Registrar Cindi Christenson said "Not only is the illegal operator liable, the homeowner also could be on the hook for medical costs for an accident on their property."

Additional citations were also issued for illegal advertising, requiring excessive down payments before starting work, and contracting without a license.

Hearing Protection Devices

It is a noisy world we live in today, and excessive exposure to noise in the work place could cause permanent hearing loss. In order to protect worker hearing, employers should conduct sound surveys, control noise exposures, enroll affected employees in a hearing conservation program, and provide hearing protection.

Hearing protection devices (HPD) such as earmuffs and earplugs can be an effective measure to protect hearing in noisy work environments. However, hearing protection devices are only effective if they are properly sized and carefully fitted into or over the ear. The two common HPD categories are earplugs and earmuffs.

There are several common types of hearing protection devices:

- Formable earplugs made of expandable foam. One size fits most people.
- Premolded earplugs made from flexible plastics. Often sold in different sizes, they should be selected to provide best fit for each ear.
- Semi-aural devices, or canal caps, consisting of flexible tips on a lightweight headband. They provide less protection than earplugs or earmuffs but may be good for intermittent use.
- Earmuffs having rigid cups with soft plastic cushions that seal around the ears.

The formable foam earplug must be narrowed and compressed by rolling before it is inserted into the ear canal. Once inserted, the earplug expands to fill the ear canal and to reduce noise transmission further into the ear. If it is inserted incorrectly, the foam earplug will provide much less protection against noise.

To properly fit a formable foam earplug:

1. With clean hands, slowly roll and compress a foam earplug into a very thin cylinder.
2. Reach around the head with one hand to pull the top of the ear slightly outward and upward while inserting an earplug into the ear canal with the other hand.
3. After insertion, hold foam earplugs in place with a fingertip for a few moments to ensure that the plug expands in the ear canal without moving out of the ear. In a noisy environment, the reduction in perceived sound level as the plug expands should be noticeable.
4. Have a coworker visually check the earplug. If the half or more of the earplug is sticking out of the ear canal, it not fitted correctly and won't provide the designed protection.

To properly fit an earmuff:

1. Adjust the headband so that it sits comfortably on the head and so that the cushions exert even pressure around the ears.
2. Pull hair back and out from beneath the cushions to ensure a proper seal.
3. Muffs should fully enclose the ears.

Employees may express concern about the potential for HPDs, particularly earplugs, to cause ear infections. Precautions that can be taken involve the cleanliness of HPDs. Hands should be clean before rolling foam earplugs. If feasible, disposable earplugs should be discarded after each use. If reused, earplugs should be washed with warm water and soap and allowed to dry thoroughly before reuse.

In many worksites, keeping hands clean may not be feasible. Preformed earplugs often come with a plastic stick at the outer end. This type of earplug allows for insertion and removal without touching the part of the earplug that enters the ear.

Earmuffs are less likely than earplugs to contribute to ear infections. However, earmuff cushions should be periodically wiped or washed clean. Workers who experience multiple ear infections with earplugs should wear earmuffs. Workers should let employers know which HPDs are best for them to wear, and feedback from workers should be considered in purchasing HPDs. Employers' and employees' working together to select HPDs increases the likelihood that HPDs are worn when needed to protect against hearing loss.

The above evaluations and/or recommendations are for general guidance only and should not be relied upon for legal compliance purposes. They are based solely on the information provided to us and relate only to those conditions specifically discussed. Dispositivos Protectores de los Oídos

El mundo actual está lleno de ruidos y la excesiva exposición a ellos en el lugar de trabajo podría ser causa de la pérdida permanente de audición. Para proteger a los empleados, los empleadores deben realizar estudios de sonido, controlar la exposición al ruido, inscribir a los empleados afectados en un programa de conservación de la audición y proporcionar protección para los oídos.

Los dispositivos protectores de los oídos (HPD, según sus siglas en inglés), tales como orejeras o tapones, pueden resultar efectivos en entornos laborales ruidosos. Sin embargo, los dispositivos protectores de los oídos solamente son eficaces si su tamaño y forma se adaptan bien a los oídos del usuario. Las dos categorías comunes de HPD son los tapones y las orejeras.

Existen varios tipos comunes de dispositivos protectores de los oídos:

- Tapones de espuma que adoptan la forma del oído del usuario. Un mismo tamaño es apropiado para la mayoría de las personas.
- Tapones de plástico flexible premoldeados. Se suelen vender en diferentes tamaños y deben seleccionarse de modo que se ajusten lo mejor posible a cada oído.
- Dispositivos semiaurales, o capuchones de canal, compuestos de unas puntas flexibles situadas en una banda de poco peso para la cabeza. Prestan menos protección que los tapones o las orejeras, pero pueden resultar adecuados para su uso intermitente.
- Orejeras rígidas con almohadillas de plástico suave que se ciernen herméticamente alrededor de los oídos.

Los tapones de espuma que adoptan la forma del oído deben estrecharse y comprimirse con los dedos antes de introducirlos en el canal auditivo. Una vez colocado, el tapón se expande hasta ocupar el canal auditivo en su totalidad y reducir la transmisión de ruido hacia el interior del oído. Si se introduce de modo incorrecto, el tapón de espuma protegerá mucho menos contra el ruido.

Para que el tapón de espuma adopte la forma óptima:

1. Con las manos limpias, presionar y comprimir el tapón hasta convertirlo en un cilindro muy fino.
2. Con una mano, jalar ligeramente la parte superior del oído hacia arriba y hacia afuera, mientras que, con la otra mano, se introduce un tapón en el canal auditivo.
3. Una vez colocados, sujetar los tapones con la yema de un dedo durante unos momentos para asegurarse de que el tapón se expanda en el canal auditivo sin que se salga del oído. En un entorno ruidoso, deberá notarse la reducción del nivel de sonido percibido a medida que se expande el tapón.
4. Hacer que un compañero revise visualmente el tapón.

Si la mitad o una parte mayor del tapón sobresale del canal auditivo, no se ha producido una buena adaptación y éste no proporcionará la protección adecuada.

Para que las orejeras se ajusten bien:

1. Ajustar la banda de la cabeza de modo que se acomode bien y que las almohadillas ejerzan presión uniforme alrededor de los oídos.
2. No permita que las almohadillas atrapen el cabello o, de lo contrario, no se producirá un ajuste hermético.
3. Las orejeras deben cubrir los oídos completamente.

Los empleados pueden expresar inquietud acerca de la posibilidad de que los HPD, en especial los tapones, causen infecciones de oído. Como precaución contra ello, el usuario debe asegurarse de que los HPD se mantengan en condiciones higiénicas. Es preciso que las manos estén limpias antes de comprimir los tapones de espuma. De ser factible, se deberán tirar a la basura los tapones desechables después de un solo uso. Si se vuelven a usar, los tapones deberán lavarse en agua caliente y jabón, y dejar que se sequen completamente antes de volverse a usar.

En muchos lugares de trabajo no es posible mantener las manos limpias. Los tapones preformados vienen a menudo con un pequeño manguito de plástico en el extremo exterior. Este tipo de tapón permite la inserción y extracción del tapón sin tocar la parte que penetra en el oído.

La posibilidad de infección a causa de las orejeras de oídos es inferior a la de los tapones. Sin embargo, las almohadillas de las orejeras deben limpiarse o lavarse con regularidad. Los trabajadores que contraigan infecciones de oído varias veces deberán usar orejeras. Los trabajadores deberán informar a su empleador acerca de los mejores HPD para ellos; su opinión debe tenerse en cuenta a la hora de comprar los HPD. Si los empleados y empleadores colaboran a la hora de seleccionar los HPD, aumentarán las posibilidades de que se usen estos dispositivos cuando sean necesarios para proteger a su usuario contra la pérdida de audición.
